Permission Given by the Government to Test the Bell "Hello" Patent.

MEMPHIS, TENN., September 11.—A bill has been filed in the United States District Court here which involves larger interests than any ever known before. It is styled the United States versus the American Bell Telephone Company. The bill alleges: 1. That patent 174,645, on which the exclusive right to the "broad art of telephony" was granted to Prof. Alexander Graham Bell as the original and first inventor, and which is the foundation of the American Bell Telephone Company to said art, was obtained from the United States by false suggestion and fraud. 2. That the Patent Office Examiner was deceived and imposed upon in securing said letters patent. It That important secrets were disclosed to said Bell by a Patent Office official in direct violation of the act of Congress, which said Bell took advantage of in obtaining said exclusive grant. 4. That said Bell was not the original and first inventor, and entitled as such to stand at the head of the "art," that his alleged invention was anticipated by others and well known by the learned and scientific long prior to his alleged discovery. 5. That he knew that he was not the original and first inventor. 6. That he, nevertheless, falsely made oath that he was such first and original inventor, and by suppressing the truth, by false suggestion and contrivance, he procured said letters patent. 7. That said Bell's description of his alleged invention is fatally defective, and the alleged invention of the art, is wholly valueless. 8. That as early as 1862 the electric speaking telephone was known and publicly used by Philip Reis, the true inventor, who made various improvements in the art between that date and his death, which occurred in 1874, and that he successfully put his invention to the test by actually transmitting and delivering articulate appeach; that said Reis not only invented the art, but named the machine for its use—"the telephone." 9. That others made limprovements on the art, and successfully employed it after its discovery and prior to the alloged invention of said Bell; that said, Bell well knew the existence of the art and the state of the improvements hereon at the said patent he roule because anticipated by others, and the monopoly claimed sion to file a bill in the name of the United States, raising the direct question as to the validity of said patent. The bill is a very important one. The Bell grant or patent, as constructed by the courts, secures to the American Bell Telephone Company a monopoly worth millions per snum, as it is understood. The struggle promises to become of great interest. It is a new turn in course of the conflicting claims as to the originality of discovery touching this to become of the conflicting charge the turn in course of the conflicting the to the originality of discovery touching the to the originality of discovery touching the touching the conflicting marvel. The Hon. H. W. McCor to the originality of discovery touching this talking marvel. The Hon. H. W. McCorwill be assisted by Gantt & Patterson, Wright & Fowlkes, Morgan & McFarland, Taylor & Carroll, and the Hon. Casey Young, of Memphis, and by Mr. J. R. Beckwith, of New Orleans, who have been specially appointed by the Government for that purpose. Suicide of a Count.

MONIREAL, September 11.-This after-noon the Count H. Wilhelm Browne, of Berlin, who arrived by steamer this morn-ing from New South Wales, shot himself street. The particulars are as follows: The Count, who owned a large estate in Germany, left home early last spring to visit Australia and South America, leaving a young and beautiful wife behind him. At Rio Janeiro he received a cablegram that his wife had filed with a young tradesman, and was supposed to be in either New South Wales or in Canada. He at once left for the former place, and falling to find the guilty couple, came here, where he found the substitution of the hotels. He visited her and entreated her to return, but without avail. He then went to St. Lawrence Hail and had din er, after which he walked cooly out on the sidewalk and discharged his revolver at his left ear, the bullet going through the ear. He was conveyed to Notre Ilaine Hospital, where he lies in a dying condition. Count, who owned a large estate in Ger-

Froehlien died soon after his re-moval to the hospital.

Prominent Merchant Murdered. Sr. Louis, September 11.—Jacob Keeley, a leading merchant of Rock Bridge, Ili., was found dead in his store this moraing, with two bullet holes in his body. All the circumstances in the case point to murder, but no clue has been obtained to the perpetrator of the deed.

LAFE STORMS.

Great Loss of Property Reported and a Number of Lives Forfeited.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., September 10—News received from all directions show that the late storm was one of the most severe that has prevailed on Lake Michigan in many years. Until more complete advices are received, it will be impossible to state the actual number of lives lost or the amount of damage to property. The following is a list of those lost on the schooner Advance, near Sheboygan; Captain M. Paulson and his son George, Martin Piorson, Henry Holt and Thos. Ingerberetson. Jacob Raum, the sole survivor of the schooner's crew, states that the crew endeavored to prevail upon Captsin Paulson to beach the Advance to save life, but he refused and dropped anchor in the midst of the storm, hoping to save the vessel and cargo. The sea broke over the vessel and cargo. The sea broke over the vessel and she filled and capsized. The crew attempted to make land, but with the exception of Raum all were drowned in the breakers. An unknown schooner, supposed to be the Milton, of this port, is reported driven ashore north of Two Rivers. Nothing has been seen or heard of the crew, and it is believed all hands are lost. All safe harbors on the west shore of Lake Michigan are filled with vessels which have gone in to seek shelter. Vessels are reported ashore at various points, but the extent of damage and lose of life can not yet be learned. The propellers Empire State and Roanoke are badly stove at Sand Beach. The breakwater at the latter place is damaged to the extent of $10,000. The schooner George Sherman, loaded with coal, ran on Simmens Reef and pounded so hard that she broke into; crew were all saved. Unknown vessels are reported ashore near Escanabe. Captain Paulson, of the Advance, was forty-five years old, and leaves a wife and six children. His son was twenty-one years old. of damage to property. The following is a list of those lost on the schooner Advance,

After he was hung the mob riddled his body with bullets. His lifeless remains now hang dangling in the air, and the mob is shootdangling in the air, and the mob is shooting and halloing. At Burlington the mob experienced great difficulty in getting in the jall. The great iron dears were broken in with hard blows. After Scales was found the mobrushed on to him, bound him hand and foot. In hurrying him down the steps of the jall the negro fell to the bottom, cutting a horrible gash in his forehead. He was grabbed by some of the mob and made to run down the road to where-spring wason was held in waiting. Scales was frightened almost to death. He praved and begged for mercy. "I am innocent." said he: "old man Lausford has done put that on me because I would not steel Hint's chickens." "That's all right," said one of the mob. "We will fix you so you won't steal any more chickens." Scales grew very nervous and said. "My name is Scales, gentlemen, and you can do with me what you like, but give me a chance to explain. I can prove that I am innocent." He was hustled off into a spring wagon and drove about five miles down the pike, when he was hung. After the mob got their prisoner they were pursued by the Sheriff and posse, and a hot fight ensued. Several of the mob were taken prisoners. ing and halloing. At Burlington the mob

Yery Essential Missionary Utensils Lost. WASHINGTON, September 10.—The Allan Line Steamship Hanoverian, recently from Baltimore to Liverpool, had on board three cases and three barrels of goods shipthree cases and three barrels of goods shipped at this city for the Lutheran Mission Station at Gontur, in Indis. They were to be transferred at Liverpool to a vassel for Madras, and were to go thence to Gontur. The cases and barrels were packed with dolis, nearly six hundred bottles of perfumery, fancy soaps, picture books etc., sent in response to the request for articles of this kind to be given as prizes to the girls in the mission schools. The articles came as gifts from many places in the United States, including missionary societies connected with church congregations in Baltimore and other parts of Maryland. Washington City, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Georgia, Kentucky, Ohio, New York and States in the West. It is stated that all the packages were lost with the wreck, and the Indian girls will be short of Christmas presents, unless another shioment should be made.

Naphtha Fumes Cause an Episode.

Boston, Mass., September 11.-There was a startling scene at the American Rub ber Works, in Cambridge, to-day. One of the girls suddenly began to laugh loudly and act strangely, and then fainted. Sev-

Rider, of the U. S. man-of-war Swatera, committed suicide by shooting. The bullet entered his head and death ensued instantly. No cause can be assigned for the act. Just before the fatal shot was fired Rider entered the ship from a visit to the city, and went to his state-room apparently in excellent humor. He was twenty-four years old, a native of Providence, R. L. and a graduate of the Naval Academy of Annapolis of the class of 1880.

Yesterday six tramp: were re-leased from jail and made to run the gaunt-let of nearly two hundred men and boys, armed with whips and clubs, formed in line. The tramps fled down the line, and ran into the river, which was not very deep. All emerged anfely on the other side, and soon disappeared down the railroad.

Death of Admiral Livingston.

NEW YORK, September 10.—Rear Admiral John W. Livingston died to-day in passengers, and the crew availed themselves of the confusion to lower boats and escaps. Forty-four passengers, however, managed to save themselves, the remaining sixteen being drowned. The cowardly action of the crew has aroused much indignation.

A BRIDAL OF DEATH.

A Young Bridegoom Mortally Wounds the Bride's Father and Brother, and

ATLANTA, GA., September 9.—A terrible tragedy, in which three mer were mortally sounded, occurred here after dark tonight. The parties were John and Mathew Maxwell, father and son, and John R.Shelton, who had eloped with and married Miss Ida Maxwell. Mr.John Maxwell is a highly respectable citizen, living at No. 1 Elliott street. His son Mathew is a well-known manufacturer. Mr. Maxwell has three comely daughters, agod fifteen, aixteen and nineteen. The second, aged sixteen, Miss Ida, has been quite a belle, having a host of admirers. Among them was one John R. Shelton, a young man of good family, but careless habits, whose visits were forbidden by the girl's father. Nevertheless they contrived to meet secretly and pledged their love. At two o'clock this afternoon a gentleman approached Mr. Mathew Maxwell and told him that his sister and Shelton had planned an elopement, and that loe appointed time was half-past two o'clock. Harrying home young Maxwell rushed up to the second-story room which his sister occupied, and demanded admittance, which was refused. With a terrible kick he burst it open, and found there Miss Ids, already dressed for the escapade. "My God, sister?" he exclaimed, "you will not disgrace the family by such a proceeding as this?" "I will marry John," she replied. "If I have to die in the attempt. It is useless for you to try and prevent it." In vain the brother expostulated. The girl remained obdurate. He then went out, locked the door and left has a prisoner, and went to his room. Returning in ten minutes, he opened the door and found the room empty. It soon developed that the girl, finding herself imprisoned, opened the window, jumped to the roof below, fifteen feet, and thence to the ground below, another iffices feet; thence her tracks were followed to the side alley, where new-made carriage tracks told that she had reached her lover and was away. By this time the eider Marwall was away. By this time the eider Marwall was away the seems. The two pointed time was half-past two o'cloc feet; thence her tracks were followed to the side alley, where new-made carriage tracks told that she had reached her lover and was away. By this time the eider Maxwell was upon the scene. The two men were fearfully agitated. They went into the house, and at six o'clock, armed to the teeth, emerged and proceeded to Davis street, whither Shelton had taken his bride, after having been married by Rev. Virgil Norcross. Several clergymen had previously refused to perform the ceremony. The two furious men went up to Shelton's door. Shelton was standing on the threshold with a hatchet. With an each the elder Maxwell exclaimed, "I will shoot you to death unless you give up my daughter." "Do not come near me, shouted Shelton, raising the hatchet and advancing. Just then the younger Maxwell, seeing his father's danger, stepped is between and received the cleave from the tomahawk. Dropping the bloody instrument, Shelton then drew his pistol and fired at the elder Maxwell. Simultaneously Maxwell also fired, and all three men fell across each other, wounded and bleeding. The girl who had been the cause of all this bloody work rushed out upon the scene and embraced her dying instand, calling him by endearing names, while her father and brother lay neglected. In five minutes hundreds of people had collected, and officers came and had the men removed. Shelton and young Maxwell will certainly die, while the death of the old man is highly probable. Just a month ago Mathew Maxwell was himself the hero of an elopement scrape. A young lady engaged to another, with the day set, eloped with him the night before. The excitement is intense.

A Fighting Parson.

NASHVILLE. TEXM., September 9 .- A few days ago, as Rev. W. T. He re-monstrated, telling them that it was out of menstrated, telling them that it was out of his line of business, and he didn't know how. Nothing would satisfy them and they ordered him not only to get out and play, but to bet his money. Being forced to get out, he did so, but watched his chance, seized a small fence rail, and with one blow knocked one of the would-be robbers dead, and with another stroke sent his confederate tottering and severely bruised, into the brush. The parson then quietly got into his buggy and drove off. The man supposed to be dead railied, however, and is now out or danger.

A Young Man's Fearful Fall.

For five days the father has been searching the region for the father has been searching the region for the lost boy. Night before last, as he was about to give up the hunt, he heard a groan which seemed to come from a deep hole in the side of the mountain. Leaning down he shouted and received a faint reply. He quickly went for help, and by the aid of a rope the young man was drawn up to the surface. His legs were troken, and he was nearly dead, having been without food for nearly a week. He had fallen into an abandoned coal-shaft, one hundred feet deep. It is feared that his legs must be amputated.

Family Life in the Russian Convict Settle-

Myvillage-chief was silent, and shook his head doubtfully. The fact was, the nearest village was ten miles away. The man was satisfied with himself and his family, satisfied with his live-stock and | Figure. his crops, and satisfied with his taxes, and over-population was apparently the only thing which he and his peers conceived needed to be set right. On this point we should remember that not nearly all the land is yet taken up, and that many of the farms are as large as, and sometimes larger than, the most extensive German manors. Even a spoiled American farmer would be satisfied with such an area. In the midst of these extensive estates, stands the spacious log-house, surrounded with barns and log-house, surrounded with barn's and sheds, which, possibly, are not large enough. Hardly anything is large enough for the Siberian. I have made personal centirmation of this greed for extension and space in the towns, where it is often carried to excess; thus I have seen parlors where the mirrors and sofas could be counted by the dozen. In bright contrast with the stereotyped complaints of the farmers concerning the too thick population is the fact that they are all proud of having a numerous progeny. The farmer loves his land, his cattle, his summer and fall, but he loves above everything a large family, while, notwithstanding his prejudice against strangers, he lives in the perfect the country needs men, and he governs his conduct accordingly In every other country in the there are foundling-hospitals; in Russia they are numerous, but in Siberia there are none. If a mother is not able to take care of her child, she will offer it to the nearest farmer, and he will be as glad to have such an increase in his family as if it were a fine colt foaled to him. - Dr. Affred Brehm, in Popular Science Monthly.

-S. B. Barger, of Brownsville, Ore. has on exhibition at the post-office of that city a curiosity in the shape of a natural bow that has clicited the examination of the people in that vicinity. It is a vine maple about eight feet in length, has the curves of an ordinary indian bow, and, strange to say, is al-ready strung with a slender limb that grows out of one end into the other so perfectly that at first sight it would be quite difficult for one to detect at which end the limb began. The bow is about three inches thick and the string part is about one-fifth of that thickness, and is strong enough to shoot an arrow 200 yards. - San Francisco Examiner.

-A tall story comes from New Bed-ford, Mass., to the effect that the other evening while a young countryman was eating supper at a restaurant he missed his watch, valued at fifty dollars.
